

Cuba Prepares for Attack From North

By ROBERT BERRELLEZ
HAVANA (AP)—Regular army units moved into Havana's waterfront today and set up military tents near the memorial to the battleship Maine in feverish preparations to repulse what Prime Minister Fidel Castro calls "an attack from the north."
The semi-official newspaper Revolucion in banner headlines said a "Yankee aircraft carrier" had arrived at Guantanamo Bay, the big U.S. naval base in eastern Cuba.
The newspaper apparently referred to the 45,000-ton supercarrier Franklin D. Roosevelt leading a flotilla of 150 Atlantic Fleet warships on annual maneuvers in the Caribbean opening today.
A Navy spokesman in Puerto Rico said the warships will go in and out of the U.S. base at Guantanamo Bay, the last U.S. foothold in Cuba, "in the normal run of things."
The U.S. Atlantic Fleet's Caribbean maneuvers, which will continue until the end of March, add to the invasion jitters. About 140,000 officers and men will take part. In the fleet, in addition to the $90-million carrier, are three guided-missile cruisers and two nuclear submarines.

Oxford, Miss. Bank Is Robbed

OXFORD, Miss. (AP)—A lone bandit robbed the First National Bank of Oxford today and fled with an undetermined amount of money.
The thug hit bank teller Jimmy Mize on the head as Mize was opening the bank vault. Other employees found Mize unconscious a few moments later.
Bank officials said the vault was "cleaned out."

Just Another Day at U.S. Cuban Base

By BEM PRICE
GUANTANAMO BAY, Cuba (AP)—Sunday was another beautiful, humid day at Guantanamo Bay for the isolated troops and sailors for whom Cuba soil outside the base has been off limits since August 1958.
At the officers' club a five-piece Cuban band played for the swimmers, drinkers and tennis players. The drums were home-made and sounded like it.
Fidel Castro may sit at the western edge of this island and rant about Yankee invasions all he likes. But the people here at this last remaining U.S. foothold in Cuba do not appear to have the slightest interest in what is going on "outside."
Not that everyone is completely relaxed. Two nights ago a Marine sentry saw, or thought he saw, someone moving inside the 6-foot fence surrounding the base. He ordered the shadow to halt. When it didn't, he fired 34 rounds of .30 caliber ammunition.
Further details of the incident weren't given.
The orders to the Marines on outpost here are, in essence, "Tell 'em to halt and if they do not, shoot."
A system of mines and machine-gun pits is laid out to channel any attackers along a road that will bring them under the fire of two tanks, one a flame thrower and the other a canister type.
Should an attack come, the Marines and sailors would not try to hold the entire base. They have prepared positions along a ridge line on the eastern side of the bay, about 250 feet high.
On the western side of the bay a jet fighter strip is guarded by a company of Marines from the Fleet Marine Force. The Marines are dug in on high ground, too.
While no barred wire entanglements have been strung, the sailors are supposed to get at the job next week. The wire is here.

State Seeks Woman in Torso Slaying

COVINGTON, La. (AP)—A 50-year-old Arkansas woman, charged with killing her husband and dismembering his body, is being held here while Arkansas authorities press extradition charges.
Mrs. Norma MacDonald, wife of E. G. MacDonald, a 73-year-old farmer and former Marine Corps officer, has refused to waive extradition.
Arkansas authorities said Saturday they have now found enough portions of MacDonald's body to identify him.
Police said parts of MacDonald's body were found in wells near Mena, in a station wagon driven by Mrs. MacDonald from Arkansas to Louisiana, and in the Covington area.
She was arrested here after trying to open an account at a local bank.

Tudor Named Head of State Press

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The Arkansas Press Association has elected Keith Tudor, editor of the Arkadelphia Southern Standard, as its president for 1961.
Tudor was chosen Saturday as the group closed its annual meeting here. R. T. Bentley Jr., business manager of the Fort Smith Southwest American and Times-Record, was elected first vice president.
Melvin Schexnayder, editor of the Dumas Clarion, a weekly was elected second vice president. Third vice president is A. W. Estes, business manager of the El Dorado Daily News and Evening Times.
K. A. Engel, publisher of the Arkansas Democrat, was re-elected treasurer.
The southwestern Bell Telephone Co. awarded plaques to the Camden Daily News and the Fordyce News-Advocate for outstanding contributions to industrial programs in their communities.
The Daily News, which won the daily division, had received the prize in 1960. The Fordyce paper, winner of the weekly division, was the first plaque winner in 1959.
Frank R. Ahlgren, editor of the Memphis Commercial Appeal, told the group Saturday that newspapers must help delineate a new identity for the "creative South."

Body of a Writer Taken From Lake

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The body of Mrs. Evelyn Solveig Dehkes, 46, of Little Rock, a writer of children's books, was recovered from Lake Maumelle Sunday.
Her car plunged into the lake, near Little Rock, sometime Friday or Saturday and fishermen spotted it late Saturday. Officers said she had not been seen since last Friday.
She had written several books, most of them with a Norwegian setting or ballet background. She lived alone in Little Rock.
She was one of nine persons who died violently in Arkansas in the week ended at midnight Sunday. Three drowned, three died in traffic accidents and one each died by shooting, stabbing and fire.
Orville C. Branscum, 58, of Lake City, was killed Sunday when struck by a car driven by Jerry Adams, 19, of Trumann, on state Highway 135 about 16 miles east of Jonesboro.
State Trooper Duren Jackson quoted Adams as saying he was meeting another car at the time of the accident and didn't see Branscum, who was walking along the highway, until just before his car hit him.
Cy Honea, 62, of Hope, died Saturday night after being struck by a pickup truck at an agricultural quarantine station near Texarkana. He was employed as a watchman.
Police said Oscar Leo Scott, 43, of Bossier City, La., was taken into custody later and held in Miller County Jail on an open charge in connection with the death.
Garland Mathis, 32, of Monticello, was killed late Friday when his pickup truck collided with a trailer-truck on state Highway 35 about 18 miles east of Monticello. Gaddis Sellers of Greenville, Miss., driver of the other truck, was not hurt.

David O. Dodd Service Held

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Little Rock chapters of the United Daughters of the Confederacy held a memorial service at the grave of David O. Dodd here Sunday, the opening day of the nationwide Civil War Centennial.
Dodd, the 17-year-old "boy martyr of the Confederacy," was hanged as a spy by Union forces on Jan. 8, 1864.

S. C. Hart, 58, Timberman, Buried Sunday

Sidney Clarence Hart, aged 58, a timberman for Graydon Anthony Lumber Co., died Saturday in a local hospital. He had lived here 12 years and was a member of the Nazarene Church.
Survivors include his wife, four daughters, Mrs. Bobby Brown of El Dorado, Mrs. C. W. McGinnis Jr. of Glen Rock, N. J., Mrs. J. R. Calloway of Texarkana, Kay Potter of Magnolia; three brothers, W. J. of Banning, Calif., E. M. and Leonard Hart of Prescott, four sisters, Mrs. W. E. Kennedy of Shreveport, Mrs. B. W. Fuller of Little Rock, Mrs. B. T. Steed and Mrs. Troy Rhodes of Prescott.
Services were held at 2:30 p. m. Sunday at Hope Gospel Tabernacle by the Rev. W. C. Land and the Rev. G. M. Petrie. Burial by Oakcrest was in Rose Hill Cemetery.

Integration Order Delayed in Georgia

ATLANTA (AP)—A federal judge who ordered two Negroes admitted to the all-white University of Georgia granted a stay today to permit an appeal to a higher court.
The action by Judge W. A. Boone came as Miss Charlayne A. Hunter, 18, and Hamilton E. Holmes, 19, were at the university in Athens making final arrangements to enter the 178-year-old institution.
The stay order will delay their enrollment with 7,400 white students until the opening of the spring quarter late in March.
It gives the segregation-minded Georgia Legislature, which opened a 40-day session today, a chance to strike out provisions of laws banning the use of state funds in operation of an integrated college.
The more than 250 legislators whooped and howled for several minutes when word of Boone's stay action reached the legislative halls.
"Judge Boone's stay takes off the immediate pressure," said Frank S. Twitty, House floor leader. "It gives the legislature time to study and think, and act judiciously."
At Athens, 60 miles east of Atlanta, Miss Hunter and Holmes were in the process of being enrolled when Boone's delay order came.
The quick action by Boone brought a prompt announcement from Mrs. Constance Baker Motley of New York, counsel for the National Advancement of Colored People, that his action will be appealed to the 5th U.S. Court of Appeals at New Orleans.
The state's appeal to this same appellate court will contest Boone's desegregation decree. Boone warned Atty. Gen. Eugene Cook that there should be no delay in the appeal and ordered the university to post a $5,000 good faith bond.
Boone's decision today came less than two hours before Gov. Ernest Vandiver prepared to address the legislature and try to point a way out of the crisis and conflict in state and federal laws.

Services for Cy Honea Set for Tuesday

Deputy Prosecuting Attorney John Goodson of Miller County, said that charges of manslaughter would be filed Monday against Oscar Lee Scott, 43, of Bossier City, La. in connection with a fatal hit-run accident Saturday night.
The victim of the hit-run was Cy Honea, 62, of Blevins, Ark. He died in a local hospital approximately two and one-half hours after he was struck down by a pickup truck at the Quarantine Station on Highway 67, seven miles northeast of Texarkana.
Arkansas State Trooper Jack Dilmars said Honea was knocked 75 feet by the pickup truck driven by Scott.
Two young men, Jerry Parnell stationed at the local radar base, and Ronnie Woods, 1115 East 12th happened upon the scene moments after Honea was struck.
Honea managed to gasp out a description of the hit-run truck and Parnell and Woods pursued the truck on Highway 67 toward Hope. When Parnell and Woods reached a truck stop, one of them jumped out of the car and notified Arkansas State Police while the other continued the chase.
The pickup truck was halted at a weight station near Hope. The driver was arrested and later returned to Texarkana by Miller County Deputy Sheriff Jim Waggoner and Clyde Keller.
Mr. Honea is survived by his wife; three sons, Gilbert Honea, Blevins, Percy of Clearwater Fla. and Arliss Honea of Bossier City, La.; one daughter, Mary Ann Honea, Blevins; his mother, Mrs. Mattie Honea, Arkadelphia; two brothers, R. W. and E. B. Honea, both of Tyler, Tex. two sisters, Mrs. C. E. Harris, Arkadelphia, and Mrs. J. J. Bruce of Blevins; and four grand children.
Funeral services will be held at 2 p. m. Tuesday at Blevins Methodist Church with the Rev. Jay Callicott officiating.
Burial will be in Marblebrook Cemetery under the direction of Cornish Mortuary, Prescott.

Governor Promises Ethical Standards

JEFFERSON CITY (AP)—Gov. John M. Dalton said as soon as he was inaugurated today that his administration would be geared to strict law enforcement and high ethical standards.
The new governor set out his views in a brief speech prepared for the inaugural ceremonies in the Capitol rotunda.
He said it would set the tone for detailed policies to be outlined later.
Dalton conceded "Missouri's jerry-built tax structure requires careful examination and treatment" and said his fiscal recommendations would come in a special budget message next week.
He gave this hint of his revenue plans: "We will require additional income if we are to make necessary expansions in our services and I strongly feel that these increases should be levied on non-essentials and not on the necessities of life."

DeGaulle Plan for Algeria Wins Approval

By GODFREY ANDERSON
PARIS (AP)—President Charles de Gaulle's Algerian program won the approval of 56.61 per cent of France's voters Sunday, short of the 65 per cent the president reportedly hoped for.
Although abstentions cut the "yes" vote below the endorsement De Gaulle sought, there was every indication the president would consider the outcome in the three-day referendum as a mandate to push ahead with his program.
De Gaulle has promised more self-government at once for the North African territory and its Moslem majority and a self-determination referendum when the 6-year-old nationalist rebellion is ended.
When counting in Algeria was halted for the night, 67.6 per cent of the voters were in favor of De Gaulle's program, but abstentions — the result of a boycott urged by both declared French colonialists and the nationalist rebels — were running as high as 40 per cent in some of the territory's 13 departments. The vote went against De Gaulle in only one department—Oran, a hotbed of colonialism and rebel nationalism as well.
De Gaulle had said he would consider an abstention as a vote against him and hinted he would resign if he did not get a solid endorsement. But Premier Michel Debre in a midnight TV appearance claimed a great victory for the government and said exultantly, "What a feeling of rallying, unity and strength the nation has shown, rising above those who work to divide."
The Constitutional Council reported this vote in France: registered voters 26,847,553, ballots cast 20,809,029, yes 15,198,714, no 4,996,507, void ballots 613,808.
The yes vote in France was 75.25 per cent of the ballots cast while the abstentions were 22.5 per cent.
The polling was generally quiet in France. But in Algeria rebel attacks or clashes between troops and demonstrators resulted in 14 deaths, bringing the toll for the three days of voting there to 29 dead and scores of wounded.

63rd Arkansas Legislature Is Now in Session

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Arkansas 63rd General Assembly opened at noon today but even before the session started some legislators were plugging for projects they plan to sponsor.
Rep. Gene Fleeman of Mississippi County, the retiring speaker of the House, took note of the economic situation and said he thought the Legislature should make changes in many budgets which have been approved by the Legislative Council.
He said the country was in an economic pinch and that some budgets should be reduced.
The Legislative Council's recommendations are not hiding on the General Assembly but customarily are given considerable weight.
Rep. Raymond Mays of Cleveland County said he has 58 signatures of House members on a bill he plans for Congressional redistricting.
Four others have assured him they would vote for it, he said. That would settle the thorny redistricting question — at least in the House.
Mays' proposal, one of a number scheduled for introduction, would put present national Reps. Oren Harris and W. F. Norrell in the same district and Reps. Dale Alford and Wilbur Mills together in another district.
The Arkansas House already had decided on Rep. John P. Bell of Prairie County as its new speaker to succeed Fleeman.
His scheduled election was a formality.
LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Arkansas legislators congregated at the Capitol today for the opening session of the 63rd General Assembly starting at noon.
The lawmakers spent the morning renewing old acquaintances and arranging their desks for the 60-day meeting.
In the House, employees passed out red carnations to the members.
The House chamber was full all morning as the lawmakers moved around shaking hands with old friends and getting to know newly-elected members.
Things were quieter and more

Anniversary of Civil War Being Observed

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
A nation once torn asunder by a Civil War officially opened the 100th anniversary observance of that tragic era Sunday with solemn pageantry and prayer.
One theme was dominant in the ceremonies: the nation had been able to reunite itself after the war.
Both North and South paid tribute to the commanding generals of the rival armies that battled for four long years in the country's costliest conflict until World War II.
Troops in full dress uniform stood under chilly, leaden skies in New York City while wreaths were laid in honor of the Northern commander, Gen. Ulysses S. Grant, at his tomb on the bank of the Hudson River.
The crusty old general's grandson, Maj. Gen. Ulysses S. Grant III, chairman of the National Civil War Centennial Commission, placed the first of four wreaths in front of the tomb.
"The most wonderful part of Civil War," he said, "was that the members of the two armies were afterward able to work together to make this great nation what it is today."
Above him inscribed in granite were his grandfather's words: "Let us have peace."
The U.S. Military Academy Band played "America the Beautiful" while other wreaths were placed at the tomb in behalf of the nation, the state of New York, the city and the Military Order of the Loyal Legion, an organization of descendants of Union army officers.
Gen. Robert E. Lee's efforts to heal the wounds of war were praised at ceremonies at the Confederate leader's tomb in Lexington, Va.
Francis P. Gaines, former Washington and Lee University president, said that "the dignity of Gen. Lee, his tireless energy in behalf of tomorrow, and his faith in the future of this reunited country were the greatest stabilizing elements in the pathetic post-war years."
Grant's grandson hailed Lee as "a great and knightly American soldier and citizen" in a telegram from New York, and Gaines called the 18th president "a magnanimous leader."
The Civil War actually started April 12, 1861, when Confederate

Sentences in Bombings Are Upheld

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The Arkansas Supreme Court today affirmed three year prison sentences of two men in the racially-tinted bombings here on Labor Day, 1959.
The 6-0 opinion said the court did not find any grounds for reversing Pulaski Circuit Court, where Jesse Raymond Perry and John Taylor Coggins were convicted.
E. A. Lauderdale Sr., a Little Rock integration spokesman, has an appeal still is pending from his three-year sentence in the dynamiteings.
A fourth man pleaded guilty and is serving a sentence in the case.

New Trial for
Rogers Woman

BENTONVILLE, Ark. (AP)—A
Feb. 13 date has been set for the retrial of Mrs. Virginia Rand on a second degree murder charge for the Aug. 9, 1959, slaying of Rogers restaurant owner H. V. Clark.

The date was set for Benton
Circuit Court by Judge Maupin
Cummins Saturday.

Mrs. Rand, mother of two, is free on bond.

The Arkansas Supreme Court on Dec. 12, 1960, overturned her earlier conviction and eight-year prison sentence on the ground that the trial record contained inadmissible evidence.

Clark was shot four times as he stood in the bedroom of the Rand home at Rogers.

The state contended in the first trial that Clark and Mrs. Rand were lovers and maintained the shooting followed a quarrel.

Mrs. Rand, an attractive brunette, testified she fired in self defense after Clark invaded her bedroom while her husband was away and would not leave.

Grave Robber
May Be a
Sex Deviate

JACKSONVILLE, Ark. (AP)—

Police seek a sex deviate in connection with this central Arkansas town's two grave robberies, and they say they are afraid they may find more opened graves before the culprit is caught.

Last week, the graves of two young women were discovered to have been opened. The body of a girl, 17, was stolen and is still missing.

The graves were refilled, with one body half out of the casket, and the fact that they had been opened was not discovered until some time after the crimes.

Sheriff L. C. Young said officers were tracking down leads on sex deviates and had almost discounted robbery as the motive for the crimes. However, $300 in jewelry was stolen from the body that police said the robber couldn't get out of its casket.

"He took the jewels because they were there and probably for no other reasons," Young said.

Young added that no other graves have been found desecrated, but police fear the man didn't stop at two robberies.

The gruesome case has caused considerable unrest in Jacksonville. "People are so scared they're afraid to go out of their homes after dark," Police Chief Myron Traylor said.

Relatives of persons buried in the two cemeteries came in droves over the weekend to make sure their plot had not been disturbed.

The body of Mrs. Alma Summers, 28, who died last November, was found pulled half out of the casket in her grave at Chapel Hill Memorial Cemetery last Thursday. Her clothes had been torn from her body.

The body of a 17-year-old girl, who was not identified at the request of relatives, was found missing from its grave in Bayou Meto Cemetery the next day. The girl died about a year ago. Both caskets had been chopped open with an ax, police said.

Over the weekend, police found in a gravel pit a pick, shovel and length of rope they think were used in the opening of the grave of Mrs. Summers. They also found a stocking they said probably belonged to Mrs. Summers. Coveralls and work gloves were found.

Aside from those, clues in the case are sparse.

Young said several persons have been questioned, but no arrests made.

Court Voids Dixon-Yates Damages

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Supreme Court today decided the United States need not pay $1,867,545 damages for cancellation of the controversial Dixon-Yates power plant contract.

Chief Justice Warren delivered the 6-3 decision.

Justice Harlan wrote a dissenting opinion in which Justices Whitaker and Stewart joined.

The tribunal ruled on a government appeal from a decision by the U.S. Court of Claims, awarding the amount to the Dixon-Yates combine for its expenditures on the project before President Eisenhower canceled the contract in 1955.

Signed in 1934, the contract touched off a fight between private and public power interests in the Tennessee Valley Authority area. The argument became a political issue, and there was a congressional investigation.

J. Lee Rankin, U.S. solicitor general, argued before the Supreme Court that the contract was unenforceable and the government was not liable because of a conflict of interest on the part of one of those taking part for the government in negotiations for the contract.

Adolph Wenzell, a New York investment banker, served as consultant to the Budget Bureau during part of the negotiations. At the time, he also was a vice president of the First Boston Corp., which eventually became interested in the financing of the power plant.

Counsel for Dixon-Yates told the high court that Dixon-Yates early in the negotiations had called attention to a possible conflict of interest and suggested that Wenzell withdraw but the government permitted Wenzell to continue. There was no agreement or understanding, the counsel said, that Dixon-Yates would go to First Boston for its financing.

In making a claim against the government, the combine said it sought only to recover out-of-pocket costs.

Warren, for the court majority, said the government may disaffirm a contract which is "infected by an illegal conflict of interests."

Warren added that the public interest "requires nonenforce-

U. S. Fleet Heads for Base at Cuba

By ROBERT BERRELLEZ

HAVANA (AP)—U.S. Atlantic fleet units headed toward Guantanamo Bay and the Caribbean today on annual maneuvers certain to draw strong criticism from Fidel Castro's propaganda outlets.

A flotilla of 150 naval units, including the $90-million 45,000-ton supercarrier Franklin D. Roosevelt, three guided missile cruisers and two nuclear submarines, will take part in the Caribbean exercise that starts today and runs until the end of March. A total of 140,000 officers and men will participate.

A Navy spokesman in Puerto Rico said the ships will go in and out of the U. S. Navy base at Guantanamo Bay, the last major foothold on Cuban territory, "in the normal run of things."

ment" of the contract.

He added that this is true "even though the conflict of interest was caused or condoned by high government officials."

A contract for a steam plant at West Memphis, Ark., was signed by the Atomic Energy Commission and the Dixon-Yates group, formally known as the Mississippi Valley Generating Co. Later the city of Memphis decided to build its own plant. In canceling the Dixon-Yates contract, Eisenhower said the city's decision ended the need for a private plant.

The Navy stressed that the maneuvers were planned long ago and have no connection with the U.S. break in diplomatic relations with Cuba. But the flotilla is bringing twice as many men and ships to the Caribbean as there were in last year's maneuvers. And it carried enough fire power, missiles and war planes to give strong support to the Guantanamo base if needed.

The Navy spokesman attributed the increased number of ships and men to the fact that guided missile vessels are taking part for the first time.

The U.S. warships, from every major base on the Atlantic Coast, will be joined by Canadian, British and Dutch units. U.S. Marines will practice amphibious landings on Vieques Island, 20 miles east of Puerto Rico.

The U.S. fleet movements, labeled "provocative" by the Havana newspaper El Mundo, appeared to offer an excuse for the Castro regime to whip up the invasion hysteria now lagging after 10 days of warnings. The Navy show of strength was the only "enemy invasion" that Castro could point to despite his complaint to the U.N. Security Council that American forces were going to attack him.

Personalized room temperature... automatically!

The Modern Miracle of Flameless Electric Heating

The beauty of Electric Heating is this: you select the exact temperature you want, and that's the way it will stay — in every room! You simply touch a thermostat, for there's one in every room of homes with modern heat-by-wire. You get exactly the warmth you want without affecting the temperature of any other room. You shower in 80 degree warmth...

you lounge in a relaxing 72 degrees. Then when it's time for bed you stretch out and sleep in 65 degree weather. Yes, Electric Heating is simple, efficient and automatic. You use only the degree of heat you want, there's no waste, ever. And there's no long wait for heat to build up to your personal need; it's always there instantly — it's clean — it's quiet.

SPECIAL LOW HOME HEATING RATE: The special low rate for homes heated electrically—plus improved construction and insulating techniques—brings Electric Heating well within the means of most home buyers. For a detailed estimate on heating electrically, or for additional information, please see anyone at your nearest Arkansas Power & Light Company office.

Guernsey H. D. Club Meets

With Mrs. Troy Burson
Mrs. Troy Burson, president, opened the meeting by having the members stand and repeat the Creed.

Mrs. Phillips gave an "eye opened," which was a small basket in which she had wax, cleanstr, dust cloth and all cleaning articles to carry from room to room and keep them together.

The devotional was given by the hostess followed by the group singing a song.

The roll call of each member was answered by a New Year's resolution.

The minutes of the previous meeting was read by Mrs. Coleman and a treasurer's report given.

Projects for the coming year were discussed and the members were interested in a First Aid Course and each member is fixing a first aid kit for their own use at home.

The program included a film on Civil Defense which Mrs. Phillips showed and explained.

The club decided to keep a scrap book with Mrs. Hubert Rosenbaum as chairman.

The door prize was won by Mrs. Harold Bobo.

Lemon meringue pie, nuts, candy and coffee were served to seven members and two visitors.

The next meeting will be Feb. 2nd at the home of Mrs. Hubert Rosenbaum.

'47 Friendship Club Meets

The '47 Friendship Club had its first meeting of the year on Wednesday, January 4 in the home of Mrs. C. F. Wiggins. The hostess took the devotion from Mark 9 and concluded with prayer. She served fruit cake and coffee for refreshments.

The club had had its Christmas party in the home of Mrs. H. M. Valentine on December 21. A luncheon was enjoyed in an appropriate setting of Yuletide decorations.

Mrs. Fred Hunt offered the invocation, and the Christmas story was told by Mrs. O. T. Cranford, a club guest. Secret Pals were revealed, and the names of new ones were drawn.

Besides Mrs. Cranford, other guests at the luncheon were Miss Charlene Wiggins, Miss Molly Ann Green, and Miss Pamela Farris. The meeting on January 18 will be with Mrs. C. G. Tittle.

Pedestrian Hit, Killed by Bus

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—An elderly pedestrian was struck and killed Monday by a bus police said was being transported through Little Rock.

Officers said E. E. Davis, 78, was struck by a bus owned by Suburban Bus Co. of Louisville, Ky., and driven by Ernest Elwood Terhune, 22, of Louisville.

Terhune told police he did not see Davis until it was too late to stop.

subdued in the smaller Senate.

The real work won't begin until Wednesday.

Two controversial issues to be thrashed out are congressional redistricting and educational financing. Any laws passed on these and a few other touchy subjects probably will have to come the hard way.

Gov. Orval E. Faubus will make his fourth term inaugural address Tuesday. He'll set out a program he would like to see the Legislature approve.

Rep. John P. Bethell of Prairie County has been chosen as House speaker, subject to formal election at the opening session.

Sen. Max Howell of Little Rock and Sen. Clifton Wade of Fayetteville are candidates for president pro tem of the Senate. The president pro tem presides over the Senate during absence of Lt. Gov. Nathan Gordon.

Integration and reassessment, the two big issues of the 1959 Legislature, apparently have faded in interest.

But that doesn't mean controversy has faded, too.

The lawmakers must redistrict the state from six to four congressional districts, because Arkansas will lose two congressmen due to its loss of population.

Each legislator will be intent on seeing that the congressman from his district doesn't have to run against a colleague who might have more support.

Several redistricting plans have been proposed and more are expected.

State college presidents have proposed that a one-cent tax be levied on soft drinks to finance a proposed $53 million bond issue for college classroom and state institution construction. Bottlers and other factions are expected to fight the tax.

And, although most agree that the Legislative Council has done a good job recommending budgets for state agencies, many supervisors say their institutions must have more money to operate.

These include Dr. David W. Mullins, president of the University of Arkansas, and Dr. Granville Jones, administrator of the State Hospital.

Faubus, who will take his fourth oath of office Tuesday, has said he will call a special session to iron out the redistricting problem if the Legislature can't work something out in the regular term. He said he will not take sides in the issue.

The inauguration of Faubus and other elected state officials will be telecast on a state network. Faubus' address also will be carried. Gordon started his eighth term as president of the Senate today.

Other proposed legislation includes a board of higher education of the state colleges and the University of Arkansas.

Legislation is needed to fit the Welfare Department program for needy aged persons to the federal program for the aged.

And in education, teacher retirement and pay increases probably will come up.

Arkansas State College at Jonesboro again is expected to make a strong bid for university status.

Gary Cooper Honored in Filmland

By JAMES BACON
AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Gary Cooper, the fearless hero whose slightest glance terrorizes movie badmen, wept Sunday night as Hollywood honored his 35 years of stardom.

The Friars' Club, raising $100,000 for charity, gave a $100-a-plate testimonial dinner for the tall-in-the-saddle actor.

On the dole were the usual array of comics, plus such signatories as poet Carl Sandburg, motor tycoon Henry Ford II, California Gov. Edmund (Pat) Brown and movie pioneers Jack L. Warner and Sam Goldwyn.

It was an evening of reverence—and good-humored irreverence. Glowing tribute came from such as Audrey Hepburn, Greer Garson, Sandburg, Ford and Gov. Brown.

The ribbing—a tradition at Friars' dinners—came mostly from Warner, Milton Berle and Jack Benny.

Said Warner: "I've always had great faith in Coop. What the heck else can you have in a guy who gets $20,000 a week from you?"

It was a great evening, and Cooper, 53, sniffing and occasionally wiping off a tear, stole the show with a speech of characteristic brevity.

"Am I the luckiest guy alive tonight?" Yep."

Soviet engineers are studying a proposal to build a 200-mile-long dam from the western shore of the Caspian Sea to the Mangyshlak Peninsula on the eastern shore. Its purpose would be to control the rise and fall of the sea's water level.

Remorseful Widower Can't Forget

By HELEN WORDEN ERSKINE

Dear Helen:

My wife and unborn baby are gone. They will never come back.

I had been warned about a childhood affliction she suffered, yet when shortly after our marriage she showed signs of irritability and other personality changes, I put it down as being spoiled and willful. I have never experienced illness myself and for that reason was not only unsympathetic but abusive. She died hating me.

I loved this girl and, because of callous ignorance, thought I could browbeat her into being the person she was when first we met. In my own selfish way I've had to learn a lesson that will stay with me as long as I live. Let it be a warning to other young people whose first concern is self! — M. P. N.

Dear M. P. N.: It has been said that, "Melancholy and remorse form the deep leaden keel which enables us to sail into the wind of reality."

Alone for past selfishness by present selflessness. Whatever your wife's affliction was (you don't say), help those similarly afflicted.

Dear Helen:

I am 19 and tied with a thick rope around my neck! For two years I've been going with a girl who is older than I, very jealous and flies into a fury if I go any place without her. She cries every time I say, "I don't want you any more!" How can I break off without hurting her? —The Thick Rope

Dear Thick Rope: Be like the surgeon who cuts swiftly and surely. Have the courage to tell the girl the truth and call it a day.

Dear Helen:

Mom refuses to realize that I am no longer a cradle baby. My 16-year-old sister had the same difficulties. If a boy calls me, Mom grumbles in the background. I am 13. She feels a boy shouldn't come to see me till I'm 15. Daddy has no say whatsoever. I currently go with a boy 16. When we first got together he started in asking right away when he could meet Mom. She said "No." Why won't parents trust us teens? We are treated like prisoners, not people. Why? Why? —Puzzled Teen.

Dear Puzzled Teen: Your mother is right in her reasoning but wrong in the way she treats you "growing pains." I am sending two leaflets, "Sex Education for Teen-agers," and "What Age For Dating?" for you both to read.

Send your problem to Helen Worden Erskine. Be sure to enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope and address hereafter this newspaper.

87th May Be the 'Welfare Congress'

By JACK BELL
AP Political Reporter

WASHINGTON (AP)—History may live the tag of "the welfare Congress" on the 87th meeting of the nation's lawmakers if President-elect John F. Kennedy gets his way.

In advance of its actual submission after his inauguration, Kennedy's legislative program is taking shape as one aimed at bettering the economic and social status of millions of Americans.

While he hasn't laid down any specific priorities, Kennedy has said he wants speedy action on measures to provide medical care for the aged, aid for education, housing, minimum wage and aid for chronically depressed areas.

The president-elect has talked of easing interest rates, revising the labor laws, spurring economic development, and expanding national resources projects.

In the controversial field of civil rights he is tied to a platform declaration for congressional passage of a measure to clothe the attorney general-to-be, his brother Robert, with authority to bring federal injunction suits to enforce school desegregation.

This and some other proposals face tough and possibly successful opposition in a Congress the Democrats nominally control but where a coalition of conservatives of both parties has a great deal to say about the final form of legislation.

Outside of Congress, Kennedy has promised executive action to improve the condition of certain segments of the population.

He said repeatedly in the presidential campaign there was much a president could do by the stroke of a pen, such as ending segre-troops shelled Fort Sumter in the harbor of Charleston, S.C.

But President Eisenhower chose the so-called "Star of the West" incident to kick off the celebration. The "Star of the West" was a Union supply ship en route to Fort Sumter when rebel forces in the harbor fired on it, on Jan. 8, 1861, forcing it to turn around and head home.

Cadets of The Citadel re-enact the firing in Charleston today, using five 24-pound cannons similar to those used a century ago. The USS Orleans Parish, a Navy minelayer support ship, has been fitted out with masts, sails and paddlewheels for the re-enactment.

Members of the First Maryland Artillery, wearing Confederate uniforms, staged the same incident Sunday when they fired 17 rounds from a reproduction Civil War cannon at Annapolis, Md., docks. Earlier, a memorial service was held in the U.S. Naval Academy chapel.

Bearcats of Mena Remain Unbeaten

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Mena's unbeaten Bearcats stretched their winning streak to 15 games Saturday night with a 58 to 45 win over Amity in the final game of the Henderson High School Invitational Tournament.

Marshall won the Arkansas Tech prep meet, beating Mulberry in the finals 68-55 as Larry La Favers scored 38 points for the winners.

And Harrison's Goblins whipped Clinton 48-35 to take the A-A-A division of the State Teachers College meet. Yellville won the B division, beating Lead Hill in the final, 65-63.

Mena placed five men in double figures and never was in trouble against Amity. The Bearcats swept four games in the tournament. Wingo Johnson led scoring in the final game with 15 points. Larry Taylor scored 15 for Amity.

Tech tournament star La Favers kept Marshall far ahead of Mulberry throughout the final. Scranton beat Jessieville 66-57 in the consolation game.

Hartwell Roberts scored 15 points to lead Harrison over Clinton. Clinton led, 16-15, at halftime.

JACKSON, Miss. (AP)—A contract between Mississippi State and Texas Tech might clarify who gets to use Jackson's Memorial Stadium on the night of Sept. 23.

Two games are scheduled — Mississippi State-Texas Tech and Mississippi State-Texas Tech.

At Lubbock, Tex., Texas Tech athletic director Polk Robinson said he'll give the contract a careful once over today.

Robinson said he wasn't sure what the contract called for because his predecessor signed it.

Robinson, however, said there might be a double-header called for. Or the matter might be up to Mississippi State for a decision since it was the Maroons' home game.

The only sure way was to have a hard look at that contract, he said.

The confusion started after Mississippi Athletic Director C. M. (Ted) Smith announced Saturday the Rebels would play Arkansas here in the season opener. The game previously was scheduled for Memphis, Tenn.

However, MSU and Texas Tech had already signed a contract to play in the stadium and at the same time.

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — State police with shotguns, advancing behind a barrage of tear gas, quickly quelled an attempted escape at the Eastern State Penitentiary Sunday night.

Two guards were stabbed with makeshift knives, neither seriously. A convict received a skull fracture.

Fourteen convicts engineered the attempted break, state troopers said. The 14 opened the cell doors of hundreds of other prisoners in the maximum security block, apparently in a move to create confusion, but only 18 others left their cells.

The 14 surrendered meekly in a prison garage, giving up nine hostages. One of the hostages had been wounded. Four of the convicts were in guard uniforms.

The disturbance started shortly before 8 p.m. Warden W.J. Banmiller said guard Donald Carr, 40, allowed one prisoner to enter another's cell to return a guitar. Both jumped Carr, who was stabbed in the left shoulder. He dropped his keys and ran.

The two convicts then ran to the cell block door, unlocked it, overpowered guard Lt. William Righter, 59, and began unlocking all doors in the maximum security cellblocks. Righter suffered a superficial knife cut in the abdomen and was taken as hostage.

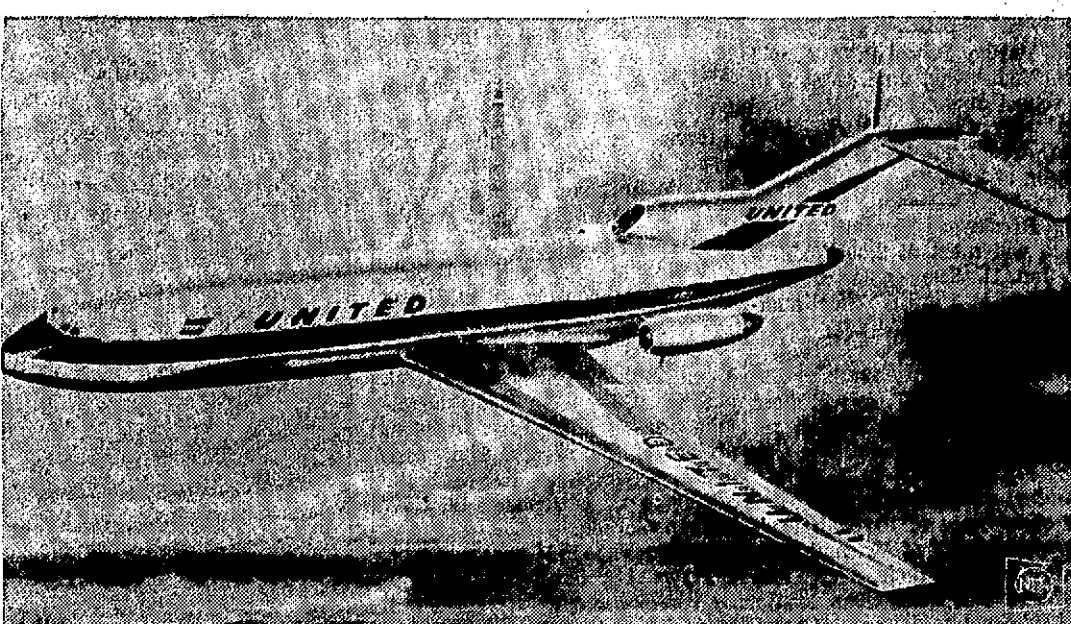

The first two convicts, picking up a dozen accomplices and other hostages along the way, then approached one of the main gate guards.

"They told me they were going to shoot the guards unless I opened the door," said guard Tom McDonald. "I pointed a shotgun at them through the bars and they ran away."

The 14 went to the deputy warden's office, setting it afire, before moving to the prison garage, where they located a truck and prepared to scale the wall. They had a rope fashioned from mattress covers and a ladder from the garage.

At this time state police—who with city police had ringed the prison with a heavily armed cordon—moved inside the 40-foot high gray walls of the 131-year-old brownstone prison located just a few blocks from Philadelphia's City Hall.

Within 45 minutes the mopping up operation was over, the convicts stripped, searched and returned to their cells.

TRIPLE-TURBINE JET—Not since the days of the old Ford "Tin Goose" has a U.S. manufacturer brought out a three-engine airliner. But by 1963, Boeing Airplane Co.'s 727, shown in artist's drawing above, is expected to be in service. Departing from usual American custom, the sleek craft's engines are mounted on the rear of the fuselage, with the third engine part of the vertical stabilizer. Carrying from 70 to 114 passengers at speeds of 550-600 m.p.h., the 727 will provide short to medium-range service and operate out of 5,000-foot runways.

CHAPTER XXV

"Is Old Ben's widow gone?" asked a voice from the next cell.

Bart started, then looked at Gentry. The man's eyes were hardly open, but he must have heard them.

"You should have opened your mouth earlier," Bart said, "and you could have had something to eat."

"I know you got the gun, and I'll keep my trap shut if you don't go off and leave me in here."

Bart made up his mind fast. "I won't," he promised, "if you'll tell me what you were doing there at the supply post."

"I was headed for Mobeetie to tell Jones that Arrington had been at the JB."

Obviously Gentry did not know that Jones himself had sent Arrington to the JB.

"And Jones turned you over to Arrington, and now he is letting you rot in jail."

"Wouldn't Jones give plenty to know what I know about that woman now?" he muttered.

"What about her?" asked Bart. "Jones is aiming to call on her tonight at the ranch — and here she is in Mobeetie."

"You mean he's going to burn the place tonight?" asked Bart. "Gentry laid it down unwillingly. 'How about horses?'"

"They'll be at the livery," Bart had spotted the livery stable and now he led the way. "Have you got money?" he asked Gentry.

The man fumbled in his pocket and came up with a tarnished $5 gold piece, which he gave to Bart. They walked inside the livery and climbed over the gate. Bart hammered on the door, and a man with uncombed hair came yawning. "Does everybody in Mobeetie get up at the crack of dawn?" he demanded.

"Who else has?"

"Three people—woman and a man, and another woman—young, express his own views, because they already are well-known."

Gentry put on a good act. He suddenly seized the bars and shook them with all his strength, and gave a scream that sounded like the dying gurgle of a panther.

The jailer pressed against the cell block door, unlocked it, overpowered guard Lt. William Righter, 59, and began unlocking all doors in the maximum security cellblocks. Righter suffered a superficial knife cut in the abdomen and was taken as hostage.

The first two convicts, picking up a dozen accomplices and other hostages along the way, then approached one of the main gate guards.

Conference on Aging Underway

By FRANCES LEWINE

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower urged delegates to the White House conference on aging today to develop every opinion "no matter how bitterly opposed" in an effort to provide goals for the country.

In a brief welcoming address to the conference of 2,500 delegates in Constitution Hall, the President said that is what he understands conferences are for.

He said he hoped the four-day deliberations would bring out material on problems of the aging that Congress can use in its deliberations.

He thus recognized a controversy that was raging even before the conference opened — how to finance medical care for the aged.

The Chief Executive, 70 and about to retire from the White House job, laughingly said that he did not want "to get to definite about this aged-business."

He said he was not going to "and besides I'm not a delegate."

"I applaud the conference," the President said.

"What kind of horse did the young one have?"

"Big sorrel plowhorse, like."

"Where were they going?"

"Clarendon. Where you fellows headed?"

"Tascosa—and we want our horses."

"What horses did you say?"

"A black," said Bart "with a dog-iron brand on the lower right hip, and a bay with a JA burned on—"

"Hey, you fellows been in jail! Cap Arrington bring them horses in."

Gentry had the 44 in his hand. "You want to argue about it?"

Within five minutes the horses were saddled, and the livery man was leading them to the gate. Bart gave him the $5 gold piece, and he counted out change in silver dollars. "It's bad business, riding a JA horse without a bill of sale," the man said.

(To Be Continued)

President said, and added he felt Congress did a good thing in asking him to call it.

Razorbacks Take on Aggies Tuesday Night

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — The Arkansas Razorbacks squeezed by Southern Methodist 74-74 in the last 25 seconds Saturday night, and now turn their attention to league-leading Texas A&M. The Hogs and Aggies meet Tuesday night in College Station, Tex.

The Aggies beat Baylor Saturday night and rained tied with Texas Tech for the Southwest Conference lead. Both have 2-0 records.

Arkansas is 1-1 after the SMU victory and a loss to defending champion Texas. The Longhorns fell Saturday night 95-94 to Texas Christian in four overtimes. Tech beat Rice, 78-45.

The Razorbacks overcame an 11-point Mustang first half lead and fought the Ponies neck and neck through most of the second half. Junior Don Larson gave SMU a 74-73 lead with 43 seconds left by hitting a jump shot.

Then Arkansas sophomore Bobby Anderson tipped in a rebound with 24 seconds left to give Arkansas the lead at 75-74. Pat Foster, whose late surge led Arkansas to victory, dropped in a free throw with six seconds left and that was it.

Foster led the Hogs with 21 points and Jerry Carlton, another guard, scored 19. Steve Strango of SMU, who leads the Conference in scoring, tallied 23 points.

The Razorbacks hit 43 per cent of their floor shots, regaining proficiency in that department after a miserable shooting night (24 per cent) against Texas. SMU hit 40 per cent. Arkansas outscored the Ponies 41-35.

An A&M victory Tuesday night would set Arkansas far back in the new SWC race. But a victory would put them among the leaders.

'Schoolboy' Rowe Dies at El Dorado

EL DORADO, Ark. (AP) — Schoolboy Rowe, the big, tough major league pitcher great of the 1930s, died Sunday night at his home here after suffering a heart attack.

Baseball records listed his age as 48, but his family said "Schoolie," as the players used to call him, was really 51.

Rowe, whose real name was Lynwood Thomas, was a scout for the Detroit Tigers. His major league career included nine seasons with Detroit, five with the Philadelphia Phillies, and one with Brooklyn.

He previously had served as a coach on the Tigers' staff and managed in the Detroit farm system.

Rowe was born in Waco, Tex., but grew up in El Dorado, and it was here he got the nickname Schoolboy. As a high school kid, he once pitched against and beat one of his teachers in a semi-pro game.

The headline in the El Dorado Daily News the next morning read, "Schoolboy beats teacher."

Rowe's 15 seasons in the majors saw him in one All-Star game (1936) and three World Series. His lifetime record in the big leagues was 153 victories, 101 defeats. His greatest year was 1934, when as a Tiger he won 24 games and lost 8. He was a 19-game winner in each of the next two seasons.

He is tied for the American League record for most consecutive games won in one season—16. They came in 1934.

Buckeyes Are Safe for Another Week

By DON WEISS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Read games, the great equalizer in college basketball, could continue to chop the surviving handful of major unbeaten teams to a single digit this week.

Only top-ranked Ohio State, the defending NCAA champion, seems safe from a testing week's program that should indicate the strength of a perfect record list that includes Bradley, Louisville, DePaul and Vanderbilt.

The Buckeyes, who rolled to their 10th straight victory this season and 15th in a row, 91-65 over Illinois in their Big Ten opener Saturday, play small college power Evansville at Columbus tonight before traveling to sub-par Northwestern Saturday.

Something has to give Saturday when Louisville (13-0) and DePaul (9-0) meet at Chicago. First, DePaul has a game at Ohio U. at Athens on Tuesday.

Bradley's test comes Thursday at Houston—the last team to beat the Braves (12-0) in their two-season run to an 18-game winning streak. Vanderbilt (10-0) this season) puts its 12-game winning streak on the line against always-tough Kentucky at home tonight before meeting Mississippi State on the road Saturday. Mississippi State chopped the unbeaten list down to the Fidelity Five last Saturday with a 56-48 upset of 10th-ranked Auburn, which had won 15 in a row and had captured 36 straight home games.

Last week's play, swinging the college season into the heat of the conference races that determine the bulk of the national tournament lineups in March, produced few surprises in addition to Auburn's loss.

Unranked DePaul, well-balanced with an attack led by 5-foot-0 Howie Carl, got past a tough road game with Dayton, 75-64, as all five starters hit double figures and Carl cashed 24. Fourth-ranked Louisville, with husky John Turner scoring 31 points, blitzed Marquette at Milwaukee, 84-63, and Vanderbilt handed Tennessee its first home court defeat of the season, 68-66.

All-America Jerry Lucas had 35 points in Ohio State's romp over Illinois, and second-ranked Bradley kept rolling at the top of the Missouri Valley Conference, defeating Tulsa 76-66 as 6-foot-6 Chet Walker scored 46 points.

Third-ranked St. Bonaventure (11-1) got 32 points from soph star Fred Crawford and 23 from Tom Smith in a 89-78 victory over Duquesne; sixth-ranked North Carolina (9-2) went on a 9-1 bust in the last three minutes and beat Notre Dame 73-71 on Jim Hudock's basket at the buzzer; seventh-ranked Iowa (9-1) toyed with

Bobcats Drop Loop Game to Malvern

By Vince Foster
Hope Star Sports Writer

In Jones Field House Hope split two conference bouts with Malvern before a small crowd of fans Saturday night. The Bobkittens stomped the Malvern Juniors 46-16, but the Bobcats lost an early lead and the ball game 48-41. This was the first conference game for both Hope teams.

The Cats, having a very cold night, led 14-10 at the end of the first period, but lagged 25-19 at the half with the Cats on the short end.

The Bobcats actually had better chances in the second half, but Malvern converted the numerous bad passes and fumbles of the Cats into quick scores. Most of these scores came from Malvern's point man with 17, Goutley, a small, quick guard, who dropped in 8 long field goals. The Cats came within four points of the Leopards, but as Hope would come down court, a careless mistake would ruin the chance.

The third quarter was even with each team taking 14 points, and the Leopards outscored Hope 9-8 in the final period. Robinson was high for Hope with 11. Fry took 8. Arnett 3, Churchwell 7, and Calhoun 6. The loss gave the Cats a 7-4 record.

The Bobkittens started off cold leading 6-4 in the first quarter, warming up, they led 21-7 at the half and 34-12 at the end of the third. An eighth grader, Jerry Burnett, was high for the Kittens with 13 points, Jones had 11, McLarty 6, Sprague and Thrash 4 each, and Wassell and Reinhardt 2 each. The Kittens have a 4-1 record.

Tonight the Senior Girls and B boys play host to Texarkana, and anyone seeing the Texarkana girls play in the Hope tournament last month will surely want to be on hand for this game. Take that for what it's worth.

N. Carolina Is Under Investigation

By JIM KENSIL
Associated Press Sports Writer

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Frank McGuire was close to the hot seat, Bud Wilkinson hoped to relinquish it. Tulsa and Southern California stood by ready to resume their places as members in good standing with the National Collegiate Athletic Association.

This was the situation today as the powerful 18-man NCAA council met to consider reported violations of its athletic code.

McGuire, North Carolina's successful (155 wins, 47 lost) basketball coach said Sunday, "I'm innocent. The school is innocent." He replied to questions concerning the NCAA's investigation of the Tar Heels' basketball recruiting program.

Wilkinson, famed football coach and athletic director of the Oklahoma Sooners, said, "I am hopeful. You know it was a long time ago. But you never know."

He spoke of a football recruiting fund in existence at Oklahoma between 1952 and 1954. Its disclosure brought indefinite probation for the Sooners last year and barred Oklahoma from postseason bowls and NCAA-controlled television.

Wilkinson's "you never know" recalled the case of Southern Cal, scheduled to be removed from probation two years ago but handed an additional two-year penalty. This time the Trojans expect to be restored to good graces, as does Tulsa, which was hit with a one-year probation the same time Oklahoma was censured.

In the case of North Carolina, the NCAA had no comment. Executive Director Walt Byers finally admitted the investigation was in progress (it has been going on for a year and a half) after The Associated Press reported the appearance of McGuire and three other North Carolina representatives at Sunday's council meeting.

Byers did say, however, that he expected to make an announcement in the cases of Oklahoma, Tulsa and Southern Cal.

Celtics Draw Blood But
Hawks Win

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Hawks won the ball game, the Celtics drew the blood, the fans sat on their hands and Auerbach kept face with all.

That's the story of Sunday's nationally televised National Basketball Association game between the St. Louis Hawks, Western Division leaders, and the Boston Celtics, Eastern Division rulers.

The Hawks came out on top by a whopping 133-104 margin. The defeat was one of the worst ever suffered by the Celtics.

With 2:37 left in the first half, someone—still unidentified—walked Hawk ace Bob Pettit. He suffered a 1½-inch gash alongside his left eye and had to retire for repairs.

The last time the Celtics showed up in St. Louis, the spectators came equipped with plenty of eggs. This time they confined themselves to cheering the locals on.

Boston Coach Red Auerbach had only one technical foul call against him.

In the other two league games Sunday, the Syracuse Nationals turned back the Detroit Pistons, 138-115, and the New York Knicks' Ernie Brown nipped the Philadelphia Warriors, 121-119.

The Nats broke a 60-all halftime deadlock and exploded in the third period with Dolph Schayes leading the drive.

The Knicks' victory was their third in a row. The Knicks rushed into the lead over the Warriors in the third period. At one stage, they scored 18 points while holding Philadelphia to 2.

South Comes Through in Senior Bowl

By HOYT HARWELL

MOBILE, Ala. (AP) — A flock of records fell in Saturday's 12th annual Senior Bowl football game, but the frenzied windup in which the South won 33-26 is what the fans will be talking about for awhile.

Here's what happened: The South was leading 26-20 when Dick Norman of Stanford hit Fred Arbanas of Michigan State on a 29-yard pass play to give the North the ball at the South 29. On the next play, with three minutes left in the game, Norman tossed to Don Smith of Missouri at the 15 and the halfback made it the rest of the way on a sparkling run to tie the score at 26-26.

Bobby Lauder of Auburn broke through the line and blocked the extra point by Stanford's Skip Face.

The South took the following kickoff but couldn't get moving. Bobby Walden of Georgia then left the North without maneuvering room when his 64-yard punt rolled dead inside the Yankee one.

Three line plays brought it only to the six and Face punted to the North 42 with 19 seconds left.

On the next play quarterback Norman Sicad of Wake Forest handed off to Ed Dyer on Auburn, then took a lateral from Dyer and lofted a long pass into the end zone.

Georgia's Fred Brown made a dazzling catch although apparently well covered. The clock showed seven seconds left and the South led 32-26. Dyer, holder of the NCAA season's conversion record of 13, then kicked his third extra point of the day.

Brown, the South leading rusher with 44 yards in 12 carries, scored his team's first and last touchdowns. He had circled right end in the first quarter for 10 yards and a score.

TAKE THAT, DOC! DES MOINES, Iowa (AP) — A four-year-old Des Moines boy, deeply resentful because a pediatrician made his sick baby brother cry with necessary probing, got a pair of scissors and cut the doctor's hat all to smithereens.
